QUALITY POLICY YEAR 2014

The well-known difficult economic situation in general means that innovation must be targeted on finding new solutions to optimize corporate processes and to improve the general level of quality. This is a prerogative demanded to hold a dominant position on the market.

CAVE welcomes the challenge with enthusiasm and, despite the critical market situation, it has started a corporate restructuring aimed at:

- 1) Strengthening the skills of the team members
- 2) Achieving maximum efficiency of processes

CAVE's ultimate goal is the full compliance with customers' expectations and the success of the company.

Our customers demand to excel in:

- Quality
- Price
- Delivery time
- Cooperation

CAVE undertakes to support in particular following activities:

- Analysis of production processes to reduce wastes and lead time
- Analysis to prevent non-conformities and to carry out preventive measures
- Cost analysis to optimize work processes
- Regular exchange of information with customers to improve engineering processes of products

The Management increases the awareness among its employees on full compliance with the terms and guidelines contained in the Quality Manual and in the Quality System documents.

To verify the achievement of those performance objectives there is a set of indicators which enhance the measurability of the objectives pursued. Monitoring and reporting of these metrics is prepared by the Quality System Management on a four-monthly basis and is discussed during the Quality System annual review.
